This revolutionary bokken design is the closest you can get to sparring with a real katana! Designed for the sword training martial artist who requires Full Force practice, the patent pending design is a vast improvement over traditional wood bokkens and kendo shinai. The tension curved bamboo blade allows training moves that cannot be done with a standard straight bokken, such as a rolling thrust parry. The unique flexible spring blade reduces the bruising effect on unprotected parts of the body by absorbing more of a full force blow than a standard bokken.
